

What's On Your Phone

HOW TO PLAY

What do you need?

- What's On Your Phone? game cards and pen/pencil for each guest
- Each guest will need a smartphone (it's in the name of the game!)
- A timer (optional)
- A prize for the winner (optional)

How do you play?

- When you're ready to begin playing, introduce the What's on Your Phone? game. Let them know they'll be searching through their phones to find specific items, and hand out the game cards.
- Start the Hunt: It's up to you whether or not you want players to go through their phones at their own pace (if so, than 5-10 minutes is good) or if you want to call out each item in order and have guests search their phones as you read off the list. In our experience, the latter option can be more interactive as people talk about the item they've found.
- Each item found equals a corresponding point total and the player with the most total points wins! Decide if you want to add "bonus points" for particular types of items (like a dressed up pet, or a silly photo with bride).

Extra Tips

- Be Flexible: If some of your guests aren't super tech-savvy or don't have many apps, give them a bit of leeway. The goal is fun, not stress. If they don't have a smartphone, maybe pair them up with someone who does, or they can still play along themselves.
- Don't be afraid to get creative with your categories! Maybe ask guests to find a picture that represents their personality or a song that reminds them of love. The more personal, the better!
- Consider turning it into a group activity. This can create more opportunities for fun and conversations as everyone compares what they've found within their group.
- Be mindful of privacy—avoid prompts that could make anyone uncomfortable, like asking for certain personal messages or photos.
- Play During Gift Opening: If you don't have any other filler games lined up, this is a great option to play while the bride is opening her gifts.
